

MINERS RESUME WORK AFTER LONG STRIKE

ALL AVAILABLE WORKMEN BE-GIN WORK AFTER FEDERA-TION STRIKE.

FIRST SHOT IS FIRED

First Shots Fired at Isle Royal Mine
Where Sentry Fires on Several Men—Replace Cable.

Calumet, Mich., July 28.—Mine operators of the Superior copper district
today decided to follow the advice of the state militia commander and today operations were resumed with every available man of the 13,000
miners who had been idle since July 23rd, as a result of the federation of miners' strike.

Because of the fact that fires had been banked for several days, the plants the progress was slow and up to noon it was impossible to state definitely what degree of success attended the movement to reclaim the strike.

The first shots in the strike were fired today at Isle Royal Mine. A sentry detected several men approaching the place and fired when they failed to respond to his command to halt. The intruders fled and the guardsmen scoured the country in all directions for half a mile, but without making any arrests. Out on the south range the first half of the operators were ready to resume work
on the heavy rope which had been dropped down into the shaft last Friday at the command of the strikers.

Not Successful. Only preliminary
attempts to open up the strike
mines closed last week by the operators, took place today on the south range. Pumps started in some of the shafts but on the deep conglomerate
load working of the Calumet and Hecla,
no wheel moved.

Officials of the company said they had asked none of their pump men to report for work, yet would not do so until formal application had been granted for both the workers and the men's families. Meanwhile it was acknowledged that water was accumulating in the mines rapidly, having already reached a depth of 300 feet in the bottom of the shaft and put out of commission two over batteries of electric operating pumps in the Calumet
and Tamarack mines.

Rain was general in both counties.
Saloons which closed Sunday, were opened today.

formal declaration of the end of the strike tomorrow. It is estimated that the strike has cost employees $5,300, 100 in lost wages. The manufacturers
lost their spring and summer business
and 21 small plants went to the wall.

BRITISH ROYALTY TO VISIT AMERICA

King George and Queen Mary May Lay Cornerstone of Australian Parliament Building.

London, July 28.—A report from Australia that King George and Queen Mary were to lay the foundation stone of the Australian Commonwealth Parliament house at Canberra
next year is denied today by the Pall Mall Gazette which declared that Canada is to be the next British domain to be visited by their majesties.
The article said:
"It may be taken for granted that when they are so near the United States, they will cross the border

PRIMARY ELECTION IS HELD IN MAINE

Political Alignment as Shown at Polls
Today Will be of Nation Wide Interest.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Augusta, Me., July 28.—A primary
was held in the Third Maine congressional district today to elect candidates for the special election to be held September 8, when the successor to the late Congressman Forrest Goodwin
will be named. The election is looked forward to with interest, as the result is expected to give a line on the relative strength of the Democratic, Republican and Progressive parties in this section.

The late Congressman Goodwin, Republican, was elected in September
last over Gould, Democrat, the sitting member, by a plurality of only 709.
Mr. Goodwin's success was attributed to his personal popularity, his long acquaintance with Republican politics,
and his intimate personal association
with Thomas B. Reed.

The September election was held
while the truce between the Republicans and the Progressives was in force. The Progressives had no candidate in the field, and those who desired to flock apart from the old parties had to choose between the Socialist and the Prohibition tickets.
In the coming election the situation will be entirely different. The change which has come over the situation since September last is traceable to the attempt of the Progressives to defeat Mr. Burleigh for election as their last fall. They came very near succeeding and as a result of the strength shown by the party they decided to make a hard fight to elect a Progressive to succeed Congressman Goodwin. The man whom they have selected to make their bid
is Edward M. Lawrence, a practical business man and an experienced politician, with a considerable following in Eastern Maine.

Will be the Progressive party's
first appearance in Congress
election in Maine, and that's what the Democrats count upon to win. They believe that as the vote was close
when the Republicans were united it will be easier for them to beat the Republicans divided.

The choice of the Republicans for
the seat in Congress is John A. Peters,
an Ellsworth lawyer, who was Speaker
of the Maine House last winter.
The choice of the primary returns is expected to show the nomination of William R. Pattangall as the Democratic candidate. Mr. Pattangall is mayor of Waterville, a former attorney-general of the state, a lawyer and editor member of several legislative bodies and generally regarded as one of the ablest leaders of the Democratic party in Maine.

WIRELESS MESSAGE SAVES OCEAN SHIP

Steamer Chalmette Beached Off Barn-gate—Wireless Brings Tugs
from New York.

New York, July 28.—The steamer
Chalmette sailing from New Orleans to New York, went ashore during the night on the New Jersey coast off Barnegate, in response to a distress
call from the vessel early today
a tug was dispatched from New York
to her assistance.

A news of the Chalmette's plight was received by her owners, the Southern Pacific company, in a wireless message this morning from Captain P.
Middleton. The message said simply,
"Ashore off Barnegate. Send tug."
At the office of the Southern Pacific Pacific coast, it was said that the steamer was probably not in a dangerous position, otherwise Captain Middleton would have made his message more urgent.

The Chalmette sailed from New Orleans for New York July 23rd and was due here today. She carried a cargo of general merchandise and a crew of forty-eight, but no passengers. She is a boat of 2000 tons, 329 feet long and was built in Philadelphia in 1879.

No Immediate Danger.
Philadelphia, Pa., July 28.—A long distance telephone message from the Little life saving station on the New Jersey coast stated that the steamer Chalmette went ashore, not
on the shoals, but near the beach,
between Barnegate and the Loveladies Life Saving Station, twenty miles north of Little Egg. The message
stated that the steamer was in no
immediate danger.

Life Savers at Work.
The life saving crews are not on duty during June and July but Captain Cholton, keeper of the life saving station, mustered a volunteer crew
and went to the aid of the Chalmette.

Making Your Dollar Do Double Duty

Our dollars come hard enough
to most of us to make us interested in anything which will tend to give them greater purchasing power. And so our readers will appreciate our repetition of the same idea in these talks on advertising, when we call attention to the number of possibilities for economy and saving offered by careful and intelligent buying of the year-in,
year-out things that all of us
must buy.

Clothes, food, recreation—all
are better bought, more intelligently bought, more economically bought by those who read the advertising with care and understanding.

In saying how much a dollar
will buy, it makes all the difference in the world who spends
the dollar.

CHINA STILL WAGES A STRENUOUS FIGHT ON OPIUM TRAFFIC

Government Enforces Radical Steps
To Stop Cultivation and Trade
In Poppy Plant in Spite Of Revolution.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Peking, July 28.—From Lanchowfu
the capital of Kansu province, comes the report of a man named Hsi who was arrested last February with two coffins in his possession containing the remains of near relatives, around
which were packed four thousand ounces of opium which he was taking with the corpses into Shansi. It is the custom of the Chinese to take their dead in huge wooden coffins
back to the place of their birth.

The prisoner was tried and sentenced to ten years imprisonment.
The case then was referred to the central government in Peking and the man was sentenced to death. The execution has just taken place, the
prisoner being shot instead of decapitated,
as was the practice in the old days.

In connection with the suppression
of the use of opium news reaches Peking from time to time of some dramatic measure which the government is able to enforce in spite of the revolution. It is experiencing as a result of the revolution. Reports tell frequently of fighting between farmers who have formed bands and armed themselves with the object of successfully harvesting a crop of opium. Sometimes the reports tell of Christians being made special objects of attack and even murder because they oppose the growing of the poppy. The rule of keeping hands off
the missionary and his property,
however, is still generally observed
as it was throughout the revolution.

Nation Wants Reform.
Other reason tell of proclamations
threatening death for a third offense in selling or smoking opium. Still others tell of great stocks of the drug
being burned amidst festival celebrations. Some $25,000 worth of confiscated opium was burned in smoke in Tientsin a few weeks ago, while bands played and people drank tea
and listened to speeches telling of the harm opium had done the Chinese.
The policy of keeping hands off the missionary and his property, however, is still generally observed as it was throughout the revolution.

The restriction of the importation
and growth has caused the value of opium in China to be enormously enhanced. Those who persist in using it must now do so not only in secret
but at prices which only the rich can afford. It is now said to be beyond the reach of the poor man, selling as it does for many times what it cost
before the suppression began. In the future, however, the government
means to carry on the grade illicitly,
and much smuggling and growing in remote hill countries is anticipated.

Aid From Missionaries.
The cleverness of the Chinese politicians in discovering smuggled opium
is shown by the instance given above of the burning at Tientsin.
But in the country they are not always so clever, and many reports of bandits having been sent to government offices directly or indirectly
through foreign missionaries and their converts.

An American missionary, E. W.
Thwing, representing the International Reform Bureau, which has its headquarters at Washington, has been devoting all his time for a number of years to the suppression of the opium habit. He has been leading the campaign for the Chinese where it has been in conflict with foreigners, and, as a result, he has acquired many enemies
among those foreigners interested in the continuance of the trade.
Thwing has shown the Chinese how
to organize anti-opium societies and how to deal legally and to the best advantage with the white men in the business, who are object to the Chinese laws and
only to the jurisdiction of their own consular courts.

Condition in Shanghai.
Thwing recently stated in a public
speech in Shanghai that, while Chinese officials and people have suppressed the greater part of the traffic
throughout the country, and stamped
it out altogether in some provinces,
the foreign quarter of Shanghai has been a source of trouble for many years. The suppression in what is known as the Native City had forced the opium traders and the smokers
into the foreign settlements controlled by the foreign consuls subject to the orders of their governments. This, Thwing contends, is contrary to the Hague Opium convention, where all the interested powers agreed to reduce the number of opium shops in the Chinese territories controlled by them in proportion to the reduction made by the Chinese government.

Comment is frequently made of the fact that two of the foremost American interests in China, the sale of cigarettes and the propagation of Christianity, seriously conflict. Agents of American and British missionary societies distribute bibles and agents
of the British-American Tobacco Company, which controls the sale of cigarettes in China, both penetrate to the fur interior. In some remote little towns in the provinces bordering Mongolia, Tibet or Turkestan the only white men will be two small hostile groups of Americans, of two or three men each, one trying to induce the Chinese to give up their little water pipes for the cigarette, the other arguing that all things American are not good to adopt. Generally
these two little groups of men
are not on speaking terms.

young woman whose body was found on the beach at Rogers Park in Chicago, on Saturday, was his sister,
Miss Alice Leaf, aged 37, of Alamo,
Wis., was the positive opinion expressed today by Andrew Leaf of this city. So certain are members of the family that she is the dead girl that another brother, Edward Leaf of Winona, Minn., went down to Chicago
last night to claim the body. Mr.
Leaf's suspicions were aroused by an "Associated Press" report on Saturday
of finding the body and his investigations on Sunday convinced him that he was right. The case was suicide and not of murder is Mr. Leaf's opinion.

Miss Leaf had been in ill health
and was under the care of a physician
for a nervous disorder for five years or more.

She had no love affair and no wedding ring. It was simply discouragement from ill health. He had been in close touch with his sister's affairs
and said she had been kept well supplied with money. She had written letters to members of the family Friday in which she spoke of being discouraged because of constant illness.

The Leaf family is one of the most prominent in Buffalo county. For many years the father of the girl was county judge of that county. Andrew Leaf is a member of a law firm here
and counsel for the Chicago, Burlington Ry. Edward Leaf is a member of the law firm of Winona, Minn. All members of the family are well to do and prominent socially.

M. McLAUGHLIN WINS TITLE TENNIS MATCH

American Tennis Player's Finish Wins Final Match.—McLaughlin Wins From Dixon.

Wimbledon, England, July 28.—The United States Lawn Tennis team held the world's championship today when M. McLaughlin of San Francisco won the fourth and deciding match in the contest with England for the Dwight Davis International Trophy. McLaughlin, the United States champion, was drawn against Charles P. Dixon and won in straight sets: 6-3, 6-2. The first match was a hard fought one, but Dixon was the lead only once. Then as soon as McLaughlin set down to his task he had the Englishman at his mercy. The second and third steps were easy for the American who was playing at the top of his game. There was an immense crowd to witness the contest. Summer skies and heat and heat made conditions better than prevail in the weather during previous days for McLaughlin. The United States lost the cup to England in 1903. Australia took it from England in 1907. It remained with Australia until 1912 when it was won again by England which has now lost it to the United States. The preliminary contest this year was participated in by seven nations, Canada, United States, Australia, South Africa, Germany, France and Belgium.

GOVERNMENT'S MILK POLICY EXPLAINED

Department of Agriculture Working To Educate Dairymen To Produce And Ship Clean Milk.

The Department of Agriculture today issued the following statement outlining its policy in dealing with the milk situation in the United States. "It is erroneously supposed that the department has established absolute standards and counts to which all milk coming under its jurisdiction in interstate commerce must comply. The department has established absolute standards. It certainly has no power to establish any rule declaring that milk containing less than a certain number of bacteria per cubic centimeter is good or that it is standard, milk containing more than a certain number of typhoid or tubercle bacilli would automatically be passed, as coming up to standard. A simple rule of this kind is not in itself sufficient to determine the safety of the milk. The nature of the bacteria as well as their number also must be considered. The presence of bacteria producing bacteria might make the milk dangerous while several thousand harmless bacteria could be present without necessarily indicating that the milk was unsafe. Even a few colon bacilli are presumptive evidence of contamination. It has been allowed to get into the milk between the cow and the consumer. Similarly, a high count of the kinds of bacteria that normally are present in milk indicates that the milk is dirty, or that it has not been held at low temperature or that it is old.

The department in its milk activities is carrying on an extensive campaign of education to help dairymen produce and market good clean milk. This work is carried on principally by the Dairy Division of the Bureau of Animal Industry. This division exercises no policing function. It has no power under the law to seize milk or to prosecute milk dealers. Its work is purely educational. This division issues many educational bulletins based upon the experiments in the economical production of clean milk. It supplies farmers with these bulletins and also sends men into the field to show milk producers how to make changes within their means which will raise the quality of their milk and also increase their profits. These demonstrators have helped milk producers who supply over 200 cities. In each city these demonstrators cooperated with the local health authorities, not to help them secure evidence or bring prosecutions, but to improve the local system of inspection whereby the inspectors can find the milk producers of the territory to bring their milk up to the city's own standard without being called upon to make excessive expenditures.

"With the inspectors' demonstrators visit the dairy farms and friends of the farmer. They may show him that certain cows in his herd do not yield enough milk to pay for their feed. Or the demonstrators may point out certain changes in feeding which will greatly increase the yield. They help the farmer build an inexpensive house, and show him how to use a window or two for ventilation in his barn, or a little whitewash on the floor. Frequent cleaning will actually increase his profits. Where desired, they explain methods of pasteurization for the home, and handling of milk. Through this bureau the department supplies tuberculin for testing herds. These demonstrators have no power to compel the farmer to follow their advice. They merely try to show him that these measures are in his own good. They do not and cannot require the farmer to pasteurize his milk. Where they find a herd that is not free from tuberculosis, or milk being produced in an unclean way, they advise that the milk be pasteurized using any one of a number of convenient methods or a home-made pasteurizer. As a result of this work, thousands of farmers have introduced new and sanitary methods of producing and shipping milk, not because they were forced to do so, but because they saw the justice of protecting their consumers and making greater profits by following the specialists' advice.

The Dairy Division advises the pasteurization of milk, not because of doubt of its purity, but because it is sure it protects the consumer from dangers that might be incurred by using such milk in the raw state. Pasteurization is not recommended as a substitute for sanitary practices, but as an additional safeguard where the inspection is not sufficient to guarantee the purity of the milk. The Dairy Division also is conducting an extensive campaign of educating consumers. In the first place, it is trying to convince them that it costs more to produce clean wholesome milk than to produce dirty and dangerous milk. In the second place, it is trying to show the householder how to keep milk after it has been delivered by the milkman. Clean milk, if allowed to become warm, is kept in unclean vessels or exposed to the dust of rooms or left within reach of flies, quickly deteriorates and may become dangerous.

Whatever power the Department has to compel milk dealers to produce safe, clean milk comes to it from the Food and Drugs Act. Under this Act the Department has power to request the Department of Justice to order producers or shippers of interstate commerce to take certain steps in the case of milk that enters interstate commerce. In this work, the Department does not set up standards, but accepts the standards of the city into which the milk is being shipped across state lines. The Bureau of Chemistry, which has only a limited number of inspectors, does most of its work by cooperating with local authorities in the case of milk coming from outside state lines. Where milk is found to be adulterated, it is of course seized. Where indications are found that the milk is not properly produced, and is likely to become dangerous, the dairyman is warned to clean up and he is shown how to improve his milk. If he fails to act on this warning, prosecution follows. The purpose of this work now being carried on around Pittsburgh is not so much to protect the large cities which have their own health officers and milk inspectors, but to prevent dangerous milk being shipped in interstate lines into smaller towns which have no local milk inspection. These inspectors working near Pittsburgh found that much milk which was refused entry into Pittsburgh by the local health officer, was being sold in nearby suburbs and small towns. The department, of course, had no power over milk produced and sold within state lines, and therefore took steps to see that milk shipped into these towns from the neighboring towns was clean and pure. The major purpose of the study is to determine exact conditions in the district, so that the milk producers may be aided intelligently to produce a satisfactory product. In most cases, save where milk is actually watered or chemically preserved, the government has no power to force the producer to improve the bad milk results more from the ignorance of the farmer than from any deliberate intention on his part to produce and sell dirty milk. He commonly needs expert advice along practical lines, and this advice in most cases he welcomes and carries out as rapidly as his means permit.

The government's first investigation into interstate shipments of milk was undertaken in the summer of 1903 around Cincinnati, before that city had a milk inspection department. Most of the milk used in Cincinnati was shipped across the state line from Kentucky. The results of the government's analysis of this milk are as follows:

Total No. samples analyzed.	Number adulterated.	Percent adulterated.
1908 449	281	62.6
1909 207	49	23.6
1910 752	30	12.8
1911 Practically no milk work done
1912 159	83	52.2
1913 211	12	5.7

"The records of infant mortality in Cincinnati from 1909 to the present time show a decrease of about 33 percent. A number of specialists in children's diseases in that city attribute this decrease in the death of babies to work done by the Federal Government and by the city in cooperation. At the time of the establishment of the branch laboratory in Cincinnati in 1907, no pasteurization was done, and little consideration was given to the bottling and delivery of milk in a clean condition. Of the entire supply, only that milk delivered by a single firm was pasteurized, and in this case pasteurization was apparently resorted to more as a means for preserving the milk than for any other reason. At the present time there are about 31,000 gallons of milk used each day in Cincinnati, and of these, 28,000 gallons are pasteurized, the remainder being from tuberculin tested cows."

PLANS COMPLETED FOR GROCERS' PICNIC

Annual Picnic Wednesday Promises to Be Big Day—Big Parade in Morning a Feature.

Two baseball games, one between the proprietors and clerks of the local grocers and butchers, $250 in prizes to be given away, a dance, music by the Bower City band, and many interesting side features, composes the program for the annual picnic given by the grocers and butchers at Yost park on Wednesday of this week. Arrangements for the picnic were made at a meeting of the committee held last night of last week, and the day is sure to be a big one. The stores have consented to close at noon, with the grocery and meat market establishments closing at 1 P. M.

The afternoon ball game promises to be of interest. The contestants are the Janesville Cardinals, a fast Wisconsin nine from here, and the Beloit Moose team, who have been forced to buy Beloit players out of four games. Butlers will twirl for the Cardinals, and Wooten for Beloit.

The dancing will take place at all times during the day. The space which is generally used for dancing at the park, has been enlarged considerably, and will afford pleasure for a very large crowd, who will care to join in the merriment.

An exhibition of the prizes can be seen at Taylor brothers' store window from now until Wednesday. Many valuable prizes will be given away.

CATHOLIC CHURCH LAYS CORNER STONE

Former Assistant at St. Patrick's Is Charge of New Building.

More than 1,000 people witnessed the cornerstone laying at the new Catholic church on the Mineral Road, last Milwaukee Sunday, of which Rev. Father P. P. Reilly, former assistant at St. Patrick's church here, is pastor.

The bishop of St. C. Messmer laid the corner stone and had charge of the ceremonies, assisted by Father Traut, D. R. O'Hearn, professor at St. Francis' seminary, delivered an oration.

Music had a conspicuous place on the program. The choir of Holy Rosary rendered special music. Members of several courts of Catholic Women, Foresters, Ladies' Catholic Benevolent Association, Marquette Women's League and the Women's Cathedral Institute attended.

The building was started early in May and is now nearly completed. It is of brick and stone and will cost $30,000. Part of the money was raised by giving a bazaar last winter. It will be the first Catholic church in that section of the city. The property consists of a lot 255x300 feet. Other church buildings will be erected in the congregation grows. It is now for families, with the Rev. Father P. P. Reilly in charge.

Until the new church is completed services are being held in a temporary structure opposite the new building.

JANESVILLE WOMEN PLAN TO ORGANIZE BIG CIVIC SOCIETY

Ward Committees Will Hold Meeting on Wednesday and a Mass Meeting Will Be Called Later.

With the idea of improving civic conditions in Janesville, a movement having in view the organization of a women's Civic Club, has been inaugurated by a number of women prominent in civic work, and a meeting of the five ward committees, which were named at the mass meeting at Apollo theatre last week, has been called for Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock at library hall.

The plan of the movement have determined on this method of starting the work as the most likely one and when the plans are placed in some definite shape, a mass meeting of all the women in the city will be held, officers and committees elected, and a definite program outlined.

Although the ward committees were originally named for the purpose of concerning themselves in the recent political campaign, the proposed club will not in any way be a political club. Its only purpose, according to the women who are directing it, is the physical betterment of the city principally in the matters of sanitation and cleanliness. The club will also be interested in the matter of the improvement of the city, which will facilitate the matter of organization. The plan was first brought up following the meeting of the suffrage society at library hall on Saturday, and although many of the members of the suffrage club are interested in the work, the new club will in no way connected with the suffrage organization.

Considerable enthusiasm has already been aroused in the proposed society and it is already being that a large membership will be enrolled. The club will doubtless be a parallel to the Twenty-five Thousand club which has been formed by the men of the city, although it will concern itself with a little different line of work.

The members of the committees who will meet Wednesday are as follows:

First Ward—Mrs. Sanford Soverhill, chairman; Mrs. L. G. Catelapole, Mrs. W. W. Wool, Mrs. Calvin E. Rose, Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Myron Green, Mrs. Henry Hanson, Mrs. C. H. Wesley, Mrs. J. S. Taylor, Mrs. G. H. Metcalf.

TAX REVIEW BOARDS IN SESSION TODAY

Few Complaints Brought Before City Councilmen—Income Tax Board Takes Adjournment.

Sessions of the board of review for the purpose of reviewing the assessments of real and personal property in the city of Janesville, and of the income tax board of review for the purpose of revising the assessment of incomes against residents of Rock county, were held in this city today. At the last session of the board of review, which was held on Monday and Tuesday last, the board of review and two councilmen sat as city board of review. But two complaints were brought up this morning and probabilities are that the board will be few changes made in the assessed values throughout the city. A number of property owners have been in during the past weeks to look over the books in the office of City Assessor Frank L. Smith and have generally been satisfied with the valuations placed on their property. The board will adjourn from day to day until the books have been thoroughly inspected, and ample opportunity has been offered for the presentation of complaints.

The session of the income tax board of review was called at the county clerk's office at ten o'clock. The board whose members are appointed by the state tax commission, is composed of M. P. Richardson of this city, E. L. Fifield of Beloit, and G. W. Blanchard of Beloit. After organizing with M. P. Richardson as chairman, adjournment was taken until August 4.

Cloth Made From Seaweed.

By a process recently developed in England a very desirable cloth is made from the fiber of posidonia australis, a species of seaweed found in the southern seas. Experiments made at Manchester university show that the fiber, after treatment, is soft, pliable, strong, much like wool in its disposition to curl and twist, and easy to spin in its raw state. It takes dye well, except green.

England's Last Tollgate.

The distinction of being the last tollgate in England is now claimed by a gate in the Cambridgeshire Fens, one and a half miles from Chatteris, on the main road to Somersham. The gate stands in the middle of a section of about two hundred yards, once privately owned, and was erected over two hundred years ago. It was eventually purchased by a London company for $10,000.

there was a deal afoot to trade Ty Cobb for Tris Speaker has been given a very effective kick in the neck. Because McGarey comes forth and says that Tris Speaker will never leave Boston for Ty Cobb or any other ball player. And the Detroit management says the same thing even more emphatically regarding Cobb. Both the Boston owner and the Detroit bosses were very indignant over the whole business.

Spencer or later we will hear of a match all arranged for Willie Ritchie and old Tom McGarey will be back at the bat. Ritchie and McGarey are already getting in touch with each other regarding a mill to be staged labor day or early in September. Willie recently reached Chicago on an auto trip and chatted with McGarey while there. The most likely bout is one with Joe Rivers or perhaps with the winner of the Cross-Baldwin affair.

This would sound like bone-stuff on the part of Bocher if it wasn't known that Otto Knabe and Mickey Doolan are real crafty persons. Bocher, with Cincy, had lined out a screaming double the other day, which made Paskert with Philadelphia had all but captured. Paskert made a wonderful try for the ball.

Old "Eagle Eye" Jake Beckley, one-time swatter of renown in the National league, is now handling the indicator. Beckley is today an ump. Many's the time we have back there when Jake would help chase a twirler from the mound and his bat was the terror of all the opposition. Three batters with the bases packed were his specialty. Beckley did most of his stalling with Pittsburgh and Cincinnati. He is officiating at present in the new Federal league.

The rumor of a few days ago that

DR. PEPPERS NINE FALLS BEFORE CARDS IN WALKAWAY GAME

Crandall is Master of Situation, and Goes Route, Allowing But Three Safe Hits.—Score 10 to 2.

Before a large crowd of over five hundred baseball fans, George Crandall, the Cardinals' mighty right-handed pitcher, pitched the first ball of the game, known as Dr. Pepper's nine, in the first inning at the Driving Park Sunday afternoon by a ten to two score. Three singles were all that Crandall allowed and these hits were well scattered. One had lining out to Rockford two runs. A walk by Crandall, and two singles was what counted for the Forest City.

The main relief in that game at short. He handled five, as assistants, by covering second base on one of them. His hitting failed on him as he failed to register but one hit during the game.

Berger started the game with a base on balls. An error by Thurwell, Rockford's pitcher, put Sullivan on first. He struck out, but got to first on a wild pitch, which he struck at Sullivan. Sullivan came in the first inning, and he tried to get a low grounder, and recover to first. He pegged to Stewart, who ran to first in an attempt to make the put-out. But the throw was wild.

The Cardinals scored in the second and third, bringing the total up to four, to Rockford's zero. Crandall crossed the plate in the 6th for another run on Berger's hit.

A massacre of hits in the Cardinals' lucky seventh round netted four more runs, thereby clinching the game. Two errors by Rockford, two single by Ryan and Nehr, and a double by Crandall, closed the round, with some clever base running being registered by the local players.

The score and lineup of the game is as follows:

Janesville: Buck Berger, 1st; Sullivan, 2nd; Stewart, 3rd; Nehr, 4th; Ryan, 5th; Nehr, 6th; G. Berger, 7th; Wilson, 8th; Crandall, 9th.

Rockford: Daley, 1st; Hank, 2nd; Murphy, 3rd; Olsen, 4th; Crandall, 5th; Peterson, 6th; Souder, 7th; Flaming, 8th; Thurwell, 9th.

Score by innings:

Inning	Janesville	Rockford
3	4	0
4	10	2

Base on balls—Off Crandall, 5; off Thurwell, 2.

Hit by pitcher—By Thurwell, 1st; time of game—One hour and thirty-five minutes.

Umpire—Koch, Janesville.

Notes of the Game.

George Crandall has pitched four games for the Cardinals and has won every one of them. In the four games he has allowed but fifteen hits. He is in great form at present.

Wilson caught another one of his great games.

Perfect fielding was a feature of the contest, both in the infield and in the outer gardens.

Another Rockford nine will face the Cardinals next Sunday on the local diamond. They are known to be fast and according to the Dr. Pepper's nine they are whirlwinds.

Seems the Pepper nine have been beaten by this other aggregation.

Manager Enright has booked many fast games, among which are the Sox nine from Footville. This game will be played at that place on August sixteenth. Tilley will oppose "Air-tight" Butters.

A good crowd appeared at yesterday's game, and they were all well satisfied at the final result. The Cardinals copped the victory.

The worst trimming that the Janesville White Sox ever received was handed to them by the Jefferson City team Sunday afternoon at the Jefferson's team diamond.

One run was all the Sox could score, while their opponents drove run after run across the pan until the score-keeper resigned because of the writers' count. The final count was 19 to 1.

For six innings the contest was of the big league order, both teams playing errorless ball and giving their twirlers support enough to cut out the players from scoring. Mullen was not in his usual form and was unable to set down the opposing batters by the strike-out route. He was hit hard but sparkling fielding made the game interesting during the early stages of the game.

Freesech, the speedy end of the Jefferson high school football team, was on the mound for the home nine and kept the Sox well in hand throughout the contest. The star of the game was Statz, who was sure death on fouls and made ten put-outs by this method.

The Jefferson team opened the game with one run after they had checked up a hit, stole second and registered an infield out. The Sox came back at their opponents and tied it one all in the second, and had Freesech "up in the air" and should have scored more runs but for a sensational catch by Statz who ran back to the grandstand and captured a foul ball. From this inning on the Sox held their own with the Jefferson team and it looked as if the game could be a close one.

In the sixth inning the error bug gained its way into the Sox defense and before the session was over had spread itself so far that every one of the team had the "boiling" fever.

Four runs were scored off on hit and the clouds began to gather against the Sox's hope for victory. Mullen was taken out and Ryan allowed to try his luck. Luck was certainly against "Matty" for the stickers of the opposing nine before the ball to the far corner of the lot. The home nine scored enough runs in the last three innings to make the Sox look foolish and finally the Sox mustered up fighting spirit enough to end the game.

The Jefferson nine was far superior to the local youngsters, being older and more experienced in the game.

The lineup:

Jefferson: J. Staatz, c; Freesech, p; Lane, ss; Ercen, 1b; V. Statz, 2b; Vessey, 3b; Frangerson, Herndy and Beck, fielders.

White Sox: French and Finnegan, p; Mullen, Ryan, Connell and Dalton, c; Britt, ss; Finnegan, 1b; Dalton, 2b; Connell, 3b; Stickeen, Cronin and Kennedy, fielders.

Stars Defeat Beloit.

The Fourth Ward Stars won the deciding game of three contests against the Collie Hill Eagles, Sunday afternoon at the Driving Park, a 25 to 5 score. The Stars were far superior to the Beloit nine and showed them under during the early stages of the battle. Movland, premier pitcher of the Stars, was on the mound for the locals and together with LaFere, mastered them with ease.

BUTTERS WINS FOR BELVIDERE SUNDAY

Twirls Brilliantly at Belvidere, Downing Elgin, 5 to 2—Strikes Out Twelve Men.

Thomas Butters' arm evidently has gone back into shape again, for yesterday he pitched a wonderful game for Belvidere against the Elgin Nationals at the former place, winning his game handily by the score of five to two. But five hits were made off his delivery, and he shortened the game by striking out twelve men, which is record alone. The Belvidere nine secured eight hits off Wyman, Elgin's pitcher.

Butters pitched for Tilley yesterday. Tilley, having pitched at Yorkville, was thrown out of the game for Footville. It was Butters' first attempt to throw since he left the Madison Wisconsin-Illinois league team. He may be seen back in Madison soon.

TWO NOVICES IN AERO RACING MAKE WORLD RECORD

CRUISE IN 880-MILE FLYING BOAT TRIP OVER LAKES

Aviator Havens and his passenger, O. B. R. Neither of the two men had ever before participated in aero racing.

START ROOSTING.

Now is the time to start roosting. Janesville has had enough internal strife in the past eight months to last any good sized city a lifetime, and now is the time to get together and boost.

The men who stood by Mayor Fitch over their victory, and the men who were defeated should bury their animosity and everyone turn to join the great army of workers for the betterment of Janesville. The eyes of the entire state were on Janesville last Tuesday and the fact that Mayor Fitch won out has been a signal for rejoicing. It is a good advertisement for the city and Janesville should take advantage of the fact and do some systematic work.

The Commercial club and the Twenty-five Thousand club are mediums for this labor and their membership lists should be swelled by every citizen who has the interests of the city at heart.

Tomorrow is circus day and as a matter of precaution it would be well to see that the house is safely locked up before leaving home. There is always a set of gentry following big shows that make it a practice to pay calls at homes where the occupants have gone away and sometimes their calls are productive of no good for the property-owners.

Time has not only mellowed Mr. Bryan but apparently has thinned his skin. He complains that he is the worst-roasted man in the United States. And think of what he got back in 1896.

A bull in the courts can cause about as much havoc as a bull in a china shop. One that is worth $10 has already cost the Oklahoma farmers who are in litigation over him more than $1,000.

Massachusetts objects to being nudged up. Hereafter all aviators falling anywhere within its bounds without a permit will be arrested and fined.

The weather forecaster says "today" when he means "tomorrow," or words to that effect. But why not say "today" and mean "yesterday?"

Congress might adopt electric voting machines and still not be truly progressive as long as the congressional record is published.

The recall has not yet been developed to a point where it can be used to extricate Americans from Mexico, China and such places.

How the cost of living must have wined when congress revised the tariff on binthochlorbenzol and diamidostibenzosulfonate!

SPUR-MOMENT

The Diary of a Bonthead.

"I don't believe in women's suffrage and that's all there is to it," I remarked toward the close of a rather lively family jar. "I don't believe women know enough to vote."

My wife is a suffragist. I really don't care whether women vote or not, but it was an evening for argument and I had a six-cylinder grouch in full working order, anyhow.

"Is that possible?" asked the other half of my sketch.

"Yes," I replied. "There are too many weak-minded persons voting now."

"Can you explain the president's currency measure to me?" she asked sweetly, just as though nothing at all had happened.

"Certainly," I replied. "The president's currency measure is—Ahem! You see it is this way, the president's currency measure—To make myself more clear, I will say that the currency measure—"

"That will do," she said. "I can see from this distance that you don't know anything about it. Now I want to ask you whether the Underwood bill will put buttons on the free list and what about raw hides, fruit can rubbers and photograph records?"

"Is that possible?" said I.

"Of course one can't keep all of those details in mind. I will look the matter up tomorrow."

"How about the duty on whalebone and the duty on ginseng products and how about wool sugar and licorice?"

"Well, it is this way, about those articles. You see—you see, it is just this way."

She hesitated and she started in and explained to me the currency bill from the ground up to the topmost peak. She explained the banking system and told of coinage for one hour and a half.

"Just to inform you," she said, "I will explain the Underwood tariff bill from agate to zinc." And she did. She told me how many mousetraps were manufactured in this country every year and how many are manufactured in Germany, Switzerland and Peru.

At three o'clock in the morning she had just got down to "succotash" and

at four she had completed her argument.

She went upstairs and just before she slammed the door she said: "And still you say the women don't know enough to vote. Think it over. Good night."

There is no use in arguing with a woman, especially if she is your wife. Convince a woman against her will and she is of the same opinion still.

The Auto Foot.

The tuto foot is a new disease, which comes to folks who take their ease.

And ride all day in limousines. The auto foot, they tell us, is a new form of the rheumatiz, which gives it victims heaps of pain.

And makes 'em howl with might and main.

When they are ridin' round in state, their blood, it does not circulate. They sit so long upon a seat, the blood don't travel through the feet.

It is like all auto fads.

"Twill surely take a lot of scads To hire a doctor for to treat You when you have got auto feet. I do not worry—not at all, For me the danger is quite small; There's no chance, far as I can see, For the auto feet to bother me."

According to Uncle Abner.

No woman considers herself a failure in life if she can dress as good as the next one.

It seems queer, but I have never seen a fellow with an artistic temperament who has ever accumulated much of a bank account.

A fellow who hires a strange kid to do anything around the yard during the baseball season shows a lot of optimism, but damned poor judgment.

Every time there is a serious automobile accident the papers have to say, "An unidentified woman was seen leaving the car, unhurt, directly after the accident."

Whiskey talks a lot but it doesn't say nothing.

A fellow who gets into a porch swing with a purty gal this time of the year is a durned fool unless he wants to get married, and even then maybe he is.

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

JOAN OF ARC.

The enthusiasm of one simple minded peasant girl made a new France.

Some historians say that she could neither read nor write. This is not certain. But it is true that she had no natural advantages.

Joan of Arc belongs to more than France. Hers was about the whitest and most inspiring figure seen in the last 500 years.

In the near future there is to be erected a statue to her in New York city. In a few years she is to be made a saint by the church. In all parts of the world kindly and beautiful things are said of her.

Yet she was burned at the stake by a section of the very French people who now make her their national hero. By the English who today land her as one of the purest characters in history and by officials of the church that soon will canonize her.

Not only so, but it was nearly four centuries after her tragic and pitiful death before there came any real appreciation of the character of the Maid of Orleans.

Even Shakespeare and unseemly things of her and Voltaire as late as the eighteenth century sneered at the memory of the peasant girl of Domremy.

Now, in the year of our Lord 1913, there is not one voice in the whole world that has other than good to speak of the young girl who gave her life to save her country.

In all this there is not infinite hope for the triumph of truth?

Everything was against her. Church and state, literature, practically all the voices of weight and authority, bad, in part at least, condemned her. Over her grave lay four centuries of calumny. There was nothing on her side but her stainless character and her work.

Yet the truth came uppermost, and the name of Jeanne d'Arc, daughter of peasants, executed as a criminal at the age of nineteen, is now far shining and one of the brightest among earth's immortals.

Why? Because she was true to her "voices." Like Paul, she did not obey the heavenly vision. She fought a good fight. She kept the faith.

As pure as one of the lilies inscribed on her own banner, as brave as truth, as simple and direct as light, as unworldly as a child, this warrior maid heard the message of angels and translated it into service for men.

Coincidence.

It was five-year-old Harold's first visit to an Episcopal church, and during the sermon he examined the literature in the hymn book rack. A card upon which was printed the church calendar absorbed his interest for awhile, and when he reached "Ash Wednesday," he held it up to his mother, remarking in a loud whisper: "That's the day our ashes are always collected, too!"

The Modern Aesop.

A dog, who was accustomed to overeat, held a piece of meat in his mouth as he crossed a placid stream by means of a plank. Looking in, he saw what he took to be another dog carrying another piece of meat. Snapping greedily to get this as well, he let go the meat that he had and lost it in the stream. As a result his indignation felt much better; all the rest of the day—Life.

MODOC JACK.

Today Modoc Jack is half forgotten.

A generation ago his adventures were everywhere told. Race horses were named for him. Small boys secretly longed to go west and capture him. He was held up as an example of the true desperado. Yet, as a matter of fact, he was more of a man and less of a scoundrel than he has been painted.

The Modocs were an offshoot of the Klamath nation in California. They lived on a 65-mile strip of volcanic land known as "the lava beds." This ground was honeycombed with caves and tunnels, affording fine hiding places in case of pursuit. The word "Modoc" in the Klamath dialect means "enemy." And the Modocs lived up to their name. They fought their relatives, the Klamaths, for years; then turned their attention in 1850 to making life a peril for California's white settlers. Ben Wright, a frontiersman, hit on a plan to crush them. Pretending to make peace, he invited 36 of the foremost Modocs to a great feast in 1852.

Ben Wright's Massacre.

As the Indian guests lay asleep after the banquet Wright and his comrades fell upon them with rifle and knife, slaughtering all but five of the 48. This cold-blooded massacre cowed the rest of the tribe for the moment, but it ended forever all hope of friendship between the Modocs and the white men. The relatives of the butchered Indians vowed vengeance and bided their time. A swarthy giant known to the settlers as Modoc Jack, or Captain Jack, gathered about him a band of 400 Modocs. His lieutenant was a youth named Schonchin, one of the five survivors of the Ben Wright massacre. Schonchin was forever trying to stir up strife against the white men. But Jack sternly forbade any outbreak. He believed in peace and refused to put on the war bonnet. Yet he always went heavily armed. For, though he desired peace with the settlers, he trusted them no more than did the other Modocs. Between the task of ruling his people and difficulty of curbing Schonchin's plots for warfare Jack had a hard time in keeping to the peaceful course he had chosen.

All the local tribes were summoned by Indian Commissioner Meacham in 1856 to Fort Klamath for a conference. At this meeting the Modocs agreed to leave their lava beds and settle on the Klamath reservation. Jack and Schonchin were not at the conference and they refused to be bound by the promise. They stayed on, with their own followers, at the lava beds. But when the government threatened to use force to remove them Jack said "Obedience is better than war," and made his tribe—300 men, women and children in all—go with him to the reservation. There new trouble set in. The Klamath and other Indians that were already on the reservation at once made life miserable for the newcomers. To avoid war and to stop the persecution of his tribe-folk Jack gathered his people together, fled by night from the reservation and went back to the lava beds. But they found their old lands had been given to white men. The Modocs were homeless, friendless and beset by enemies.

A company of soldiers was sent to evict Jack and his followers from the lava beds. While the leaders were conferring a fight broke out between a few of the soldiers and the Indians. The conflict became general. Five were killed on each side and many were wounded. The Modocs fled southward, destroying every white settlement in their path. But though white men and boys were everywhere slain Jack would allow no white woman or child to be harmed. At last, with 70 braves and many squaws and papposes, he sought refuge in the lava caves of Lost River. Colonel Wheaton, with 600 United States troops, came out to dislodge him. Jack and his braves sent the soldiers scurrying back in hasty retreat, killing 35 of them.

A Blow for Vengeance.

Then an army under General Canby was brought up and besieged the caves, hoping to starve out the handful of plucky defenders. Jack even yet hoped to make peace. All along he had hated the idea of war, but hostilities had always been forced upon him. So he agreed to a conference with Canby, Meacham, Dr. Thomas and other white leaders. It was arranged that five Indians and five white men should meet, unarmed, on April 11, 1857, at a neutral spot between the lines. Whether Jack suspected treachery or whether he merely wished to avenge the Ben Wright massacre cannot be known. At any rate, he and four of his men went to the conference armed. They fired on the white men, killing Canby and Thomas and wounding Meacham. Then they got back in safety to their caves. As the soldiers pressed in on him Jack led his people through a tunnel under the enemy's very feet, out of the trap and to a place of safety.

But the new hiding place was quickly discovered. The Modocs were again surrounded and were at last forced by hunger and thirst to surrender. Jack was betrayed by his own braves and was the last man captured. He and three of his lieutenants were hanged at Fort Klamath October 3, 1857, for Canby's murder.

Woolen Mills Clothing Company Closed by Manager But Stock Is Held Waiting Settlement of Claims.

"Remember the Sabbath Day and Keep it Holy" is evidently not included in the creed of some people. In fact, the Sabbath Day when justice is closed, is often a fine opportunity to ship a stock of goods out of the city before any legal action can be taken to prevent it.

Saturday evening Manager John Snyder of the clothing concern doing business under the name of the Woolen Mills Company, located in the Myers Theatre block on East Milwaukee street, was surprised at the arrival of Morris Holstein of Chicago, manager of the company, with three friends at the store, shortly before closing time. The arrival of the large trucks aroused his suspicions, but beyond paying him his week's wages, saying they would close the store nothing was said to him relative to the store going out of business.

However Mr. Snyder, telephoned Councilman Roy Cummings his suspicions in case the city could stop removal of stock on the grounds the firm was a transient merchant and subject to license. Mr. Cummings found they were not liable and the city could take no steps.

Evidently the four visitors from Chicago worked the heavens for early Sunday morning two large trucks and two packages were piled on the street waiting shipment to Chicago, according to labels on them. Meanwhile two gentlemen, employed by a firm the Woolen Mills company had indicated, passed by, saw the trucks, and knowing what was happening and knowing no attachment could be sworn out on Sunday employed common sense, hauled them a place of concealment, hired a dray and loaded the trucks on and then effaced themselves from the atmosphere of Janesville for the time being.

At the time there was excitement enough. Talks of warrants for their arrest by the rate proprietor of the store but no one could be found responsible. This morning a writ or attachment was issued for the trucks and within a few hours other claimants heard of the closing of the store and sought to protect themselves so that it is probable that there will be lots of fun before it is all over.

Meanwhile Mr. Snyder is out his year's contract, as manager, P. L. Myers who owned the building is minus a tenant for the remainder of the three year lease, and the goods—where the goods are being held pending the payment of claims is a mystery.

The Woolen Mills company was only the Janesville name for the firm, which had offices at 220 Central Union Building, Chicago, Ill., corner of Madison and Market streets, and which stock held there are several suits which have been ordered by local men and in some cases deposits made upon them.

Love Element in Writer's Lives. Alfred de Musset's love for irresponsible George Sand gave his thoughts such an extraordinary elevation that he wrote many brilliant poems in consequence. BUOB BREWERY SOLD TO MILWAUKEE MEN; TAKE CHARGE AUG. 1

Michael Buob, in Business in Janesville for Nearly Fifty-six Years, Now Permanently Retires.

After being engaged in active business in Janesville since 1857, most of the time in the manufacture of beer and other malt liquors, Michael Buob has sold his interests in the Milwaukee men—Nicholas Schmidt, Leo Mueherheldt and Leo Stisher—August 1, Mrs. Mary Buob, who has been managing the brewery since the death of her husband, has also disposed of her interests in the brewery. Michael Buob and his brother, John Buob, began their brewing business in what was known as the upper brewery, now owned by the Croak company, in 1857, and succeeded in building a substantial and flourishing trade. In 1881 they sold out to George Knip and for several years Michael Buob was engaged in the retail liquor business in this city. In 1891, however, he again engaged in the brewing business, buying out the Rothengraben brewery, and established himself in the present location at the foot of South Main street.

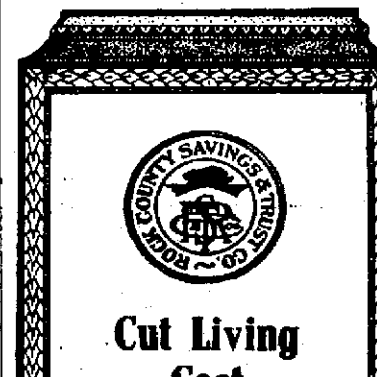

In 1905, desiring to retire from active work, he sold his interests in the brewery to William Buob and to William Hart, but retained his real estate interest in the property. After the death of Mr. Hart, Will Buob continued to conduct the brewery until his death a year ago. Since that time his wife, Mrs. Mary Buob, has been in charge.

The Buob brewing business has been a most successful one, due in large measure to the personal abilities of Michael Buob, who interested himself in manufacturing a high quality of beer.

The new owners of the plant are contemplating some extensive changes in the brewery with the view to increasing the output. Mr. Schmidt has had experience in the brewing business and is at present negotiating for another brewery in the northern part of the state. Mr. Schmidt stated today that it was the intention of the new owners to install an ice manufacturing plant later if the conditions would warrant. All three of the men will move to Janesville at once to take charge of the business, which promises to continue in a prosperous condition.

Owing to the fact that the deal has not been completely closed, no statement has been made of the figures involved in the transfer.

Push sale all this week. Talk to Lowell.

RIDES TO MILWAUKEE IN AUTO AMBULANCE

Frank Horatz, Much Heard of Fat Man, is Finally Removed from Rock County Hospital.

Frank Horatz, widely advertised for his excessive avoirdupois, which prevented his removal to Milwaukee for a number of years, was taken from the Rock county hospital yesterday and conveyed by auto-ambulance to Milwaukee where he will be cared for in the county hospital.

Horatz was said to weigh some 350 pounds when he was taken to the county farm some five weeks ago. At that time he was unable to stand on his feet and was in a serious condition. He was then wanted in Milwaukee on a charge of wife abandonment, but owing to his predicament he could not be taken farther than the Rock county hospital. The report was that Horatz had some property which was tied up in a county court action.

During his stay at the hospital Horatz has improved to a considerable extent, according to Superintendent Barless. He has been living on a buttermilk diet to reduce his flesh and is not nearly of the unwieldy size that he was when he first came under the county's care. Nevertheless, it took three men to lift him in a chair and carry him from his room to the ambulance.

William Spindler, superintendent of poor for Milwaukee county, the county physician and two trustees of the county hospital, made the overland trip to Janesville Sunday morning in a touring car which followed the ambulance. They made the trip in three hours and fifty minutes which was exceptional time. They left the poor farm with their charge yesterday afternoon and expected to arrive in Milwaukee last evening.

Horatz will be cared for in the county hospital, reducing his cost to Milwaukee county, as the charge for board and care in the Rock county hospital was mounting up to a large figure.

Walked to Beloit: Edward Buss and E. P. Wilcox walked to Beloit Sunday morning, making the journey in a little less time than four hours. They expect to repeat the trip later and plan to negotiate the distance in three hours or less.

Jack and Bean.

Lord St. Levan owns that romantically beautiful Cornish fastness, St. Michael's Mount. Among other legends St. Michael's Mount is supposed to have been the scene of the fairy tale of "Jack and the Beanstalk," and hence come the nicknames of "Jack" and "Bean" borne by Lord St. Levan and his next brother, Major Edward St. Aubyn.

Control.

I would have nobody to control me; I would be absolute; and who but I? Now, he that is absolute can do what he likes; he that can do what he likes can take his pleasure; he that can take his pleasure can be content; and he that can be content has no more to desire. So the matter's over; and come what will come, I am satisfied.

Queen Elizabeth's Pedigree.

One of the most interesting curiosities at Hatfield is the pedigree of Elizabeth, which is to be seen in the gallery. Those intrusted to make out the document wisely discovered that her descent could be traced through every important person, and especially through every beautiful person, straight back to Adam and Eve. It is on record that the Virgin Queen highly commended the work.—London Evening Standard.

The wagon show of long ago, it had a funny clown; we lined the way at break of day to see it into town. Our money went to the last cent to get us boys inside. But what of that? For hours we sat with eyes distended wide. The wagon show of long ago, it only had one ring, and we could sit close to it, and never miss a thing.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

WHAT SOME THINGS COST.
EVERY good thing in this world must be bought at a good price. Only nothing may be purchased for nothing.
 Few people stop to realize how much an exceptionally attractive appearance costs, not only in money but in many other ways. I was reminded of this the other day when one woman said to another: "I wish I could wear white as much as you do. It is becoming to me, but I simply can't keep it clean, and cleansing costs so much. How do you manage to keep so spotless?"

The other woman had worn a white corduroy suit to functions all winter and usually wears white house gowns in the afternoon at home, although she does her own housework. She looked down at the spotless white gown which she was wearing at the moment and answered: "I tell you how I can keep things better than most people. It is because I never have my mind off my clothes for a minute when I'm wearing anything like this. I don't make a move without thinking of them. I think of other things on top, but that is a constant undercurrent of thought with me."

At that answer "a new light broke upon me," as our friend Mrs. Malaprop says. All at once I understood the preoccupied expression which I had so often seen on that woman's face.

A certain woman buyer for a big department store always tries to utter in her person the last word in coiffing and gowning. Now this woman told a friend that three hours a day would scarcely cover the time she spends in putting on her clothes and doing her hair. She is so entirely point device that she really seems ultra well groomed. That means that over and over and thought and study which she expends, she also pays one-eighth of her whole life, or about one-fifth of her waking time, for her stylish appearance.

Is it worth it?
 Pretty clothes, attractive coiffing and good grooming are by no means to be despised, but I think it is possible to pay too high a price for them. We do not like to pay too high a price for anything, when we do we feel cheated. I think we should be just as careful how we pay more than a thing is worth in other currency.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) My chin has little wart-like pimples on it. What can I do for them?
 (2) I have freckles; do you think a freckle cream injurious to the complexion?
 (3) My face around my mouth is always yellow, as if it were dirty. Can you advise anything for that?
 (4) My hair is not fluffy at all. Two or three days after I wash it it gets so only that it strings.
 (5) My hair is very short. It just comes a little past my shoulder. What can I do to make it grow?
 (6) What is good for blackheads?

BEAUTY SEEKER.
 (1) The pimples on your chin may come from indigestion. Perhaps you are eating too many hot sauces, like catsup, Worcester, etc. Stop them. Keep your bowels open with epsom salts and eat plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables and drink at least three pints of pure water each day.
 (2) I do not know anything about the proprietary freckle creams. Some preparations are apt to make the skin very sore. Buttermilk is one of the best and most harmless of freckle remedies. Be careful not to expose the skin to the sun if you don't want freckles.
 (3) This also indicates some stomach trouble. Massage around the mouth with cold cream every day and occasionally apply a little lemon juice to whiten.
 (4) Try the egg shampoo for your hair. Beat up two eggs, run the hair into the hair and scalp and let dry. Then rinse in tepid water with a little baking soda in it. Rinse in cool water several times until the hair is perfectly clean, then brush the hair dry. The next day apply a very little alcohol to the scalp, rubbing it in well. Wash the hair every two weeks and apply the alcohol every two or three days when it is necessary.
 (5) If you want your hair to grow you will have to massage the scalp a great deal and brush the hair well every day. A little castor oil applied to the scalp once a day will aid the growth, but you can't do this and have the hair fluffy, too.

 (6) Get at the drug store 2 oz. tincture of green soap and 2 oz. witch hazel. Mix, apply to the face and let it stay on only a few moments, then wash off with hot water. If it makes the skin too tender, apply only every other day and apply a cold cream afterward. This will open the pores and they can be opened with a fine needle. Start like this, needle first in boiling water. Gently press out the blackheads, then wash the place with toilet vinegar and water. Bathe daily, eat right and exercise outdoors. It won't have a pretty skin.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a widow thirty years old and there is a nice, sweet, quiet girl in my town that I would like to meet.
 Now could I write her a note and tell her that I wish to meet her, or could I speak to her on the street and tell her my name? I know her name and know where she lives, but just can't find out anyone that could make me acquainted. Please tell me how I can manage to meet her in the right manner. I would like very much to meet her.

I am a railroad man by trade and have a good position and strictly sober—never touched whiskey in my life. I find out what church she goes to. Go there, get acquainted with the minister and some of the men folk and get an introduction to the girl. Or, call on her father or older brother. Satisfy that you want to meet the girl and show that you are a respectful unmarried man.
 If she is a nice girl it wouldn't do at all to speak to her on the street or to write her a note.

 CONDUCTED BY MRS. ALICE ORFELL KIM

should know these things and follow them for the health of herself and family.
 There are new vegetables constantly coming into the market each day, so we have only to choose the ones which combine and fit with other foods and then know how to cook them with the least possible loss of the real food. This is what we have paid our money for. Some of the best vegetables now are cabbage, egg plant, summer squash, carrots, beets, leeks, peppers, green corn, kohlrabi, radishes and lettuce.

Stuffed Egg Plant.
 Materials—Egg plant, one; stale white bread crumbs, one cup; English walnuts, one-half cup; butter, one tablespoonful; chopped onion, one tablespoonful; egg, one; chopped parsley, one tablespoonful; salt, pepper.
 Directions—Choose a full, dark purple egg plant. Cook in plenty of boiling water fifteen minutes. While boiling shell and chop the nuts, grate the bread crumbs and chop the onion. When the egg plant has boiled the required time, remove from the kettle and cut lengthwise in halves and with a pointed knife cut out the pulp about one-half inch from the outside. With a spoon remove it from the shell. Chop this fine.
 Put the butter into the spider, melt, add the onion and cook it until it is yellow, but not brown. Then add the egg plant and cook a moment, then the remaining ingredients—except the egg—mix all together. When thoroughly heated, remove from the fire and add the well-beaten egg. Stand the egg plant shells in a buttered pan and fill with this mixture, heaping well on the top and sprinkling with bread crumbs. Bake with melted butter and twice again while baking in a moderate oven three-quarters of an hour. This is a nice luncheon dish and a perfect substitute for meat.

Summer Squash.
 This belongs to the pumpkin family, but resembles cucumbers and vegetable marrow. When carefully cooked it forms a delicate, easily digested, succulent vegetable. This as with egg plant is low in nutrition, but gives variety to our daily bills of fare and these foods have their place in our dietary. When baking do not pierce. It is also very nice cut into strips without paring, steamed and then scraped from the skins, and washed or peeled, seeds removed and cut in small pieces and steamed and boiled in salted water. When tender drain and press through a colander. Return it to a slow fire in a sauce pan to evaporate excessive moisture, then season with butter, pepper and salt.

THE KITCHEN CABINET
SPIRIT, O my spirit, Why art thou out of tune? Art thou hungering in December, When the earth is in its June? Hast thou lost thy part in nature, Hast thou lost the key? Art thou angry that the anthem Will not, cannot, wait for thee? —J. G. Holland.

RED, BLACK AND WHITE CURRANTS.
 Currants are a favorite fruit with most people. The red currant is the most used for jellies, although many like the combination of red and white, making a light-colored jelly. The combination of red currant and red raspberry is especially delicious.
 The black currant is not so common now, but makes a peculiarly delicious jam for those who are sufficiently old-fashioned not to forget "grandmother's garden," where the black currant bushes were always found.

To be in the best condition for jelly making, the currants should not be too ripe nor picked after a heavy rain. Pick over the currants, but do not remove the stems. Wash and drain, and mash in the bottom of a preserving kettle with a wooden potato masher; add a few more and mash until there is enough for the receptacle. Cook until the currants have a white appearance, strain through a colander, then put the juice in a jelly bag to drip. Measure the juice, boil five minutes, then add an equal measure of heated granulated sugar, or less if sour jelly is desired. Boil two or three minutes, try a little in a cold saucer; if a thin skin forms at once, pour into glasses. Jelly to be of good consistency should be just firm enough to keep its shape when turned from the glass. It should be clear and of good flavor. Let stand for a day or two in a sunny window to set, then cover and put away for winter use in a cool, dry place.

The delicious bar leduc currants may be prepared at home if one cares to take the time for it. Use the large cherry currant and remove the seeds with a large needle. Cook the currants very carefully and mix with currant jelly. Put away in glasses, carefully covered.

These may be prepared when making jelly, and a glass or two saved for the bar leduc currants. This conserve being very rich, is only used in small quantities, or as a garnish for cheese or salad.

 This pretty frock is made of a light shade of emerald green chiffon. It has a draped tunic which is open in the front over the skirt, and is crossed in the back. The right side of the back is finished with a silk tassel on the point. The skirt is trimmed below the girdle in front with a band of white lace, and the lower part with two bands of lace. The tunic is slightly fluted from under a girdle of soft liberty satin to match, and the girdle is closed under a buckle covered with satin. The up-standing double frill above the girdle is of chiffon. The sleeve which is in one with the upper part, is full length and finished at the wrist with a frill of chiffon. The corsage opens in the front, and the opening is partially filled with lace, and the lower part of the corsage is of lace.

Rosemary Theby.
 While playing a scene in "The Silly Sex," Rosemary Theby was compelled to row out on Long Island Sound and allow her small boat to be swamped while she floundered about in the water calling for help. Of course the director and camera men were close at hand in a launch, but the water was deep and very cold. In fact Alan Hale had to go to her rescue at the eleventh hour.

His client was not satisfied with the lawyer's procedure in the case, and after a heated argument outside the court the client threw the lawyer into the River Marne.—Case and Comment.

THIS WOMAN PREVENTED GREAT TIE-UP OF AMERICAN COMMERCE BY R. R. STRIKE

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman.

To Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, society leader in New York and niece of E. H. Harriman, the late railroad king, is given the honor of averting the great railroad strike that threatened to tie up the country. She went to President Wilson when she first heard strike rumors and suggested that he call a conference between leaders of both sides.

Every Day Talks for Every Day People

By FRANCIS JOYCE KENNEDY

Why can't Janesville have a club house, a club house for the everyday people of this town, of all the smaller towns and our surrounding country, a club house where men of very slender incomes can, by paying a stated sum as dues each year provide a vacation for himself, his wife and family?

There are places a plenty in and near Janesville that are ideal for such purposes and if we all put together we'd have as fine a club house as any other city. If we have a day off now, where do we go? We have to depend on our sister cities for amusement and recreation. Being fair to our sister cities let us say they always give us a royal welcome. But why depend on them for all and why not have a place of our own for our young and our young-old to spend a day, a week, or more as one's time and inclination may dictate?

This paper has sent me to look over several club houses that are for just plain everyday folks. They want to make Janesville a 25,000 city soon. They think this one way of helping and to prove that they have faith in our city and its capabilities and possibilities, they have stood the expense of my journeying about to look into this vacation project.

Two in particular that I have visited I want to make mention of. One is owned by the members and has been in existence over twenty years. The other has been rented for a term of years and the members of both clubs are just plain folks. The only hard and fast rule in both clubs is that to be a member, one must be a good man, a good woman. This part please get in the right sense. I don't mean that you have to be a social light, a member of an "old" family or anything like that. Our United States is in danger of losing too much stress entirely on just such really unimportant matters. We are prone to forget the things that really count, or pass them by for the glare and glittering anything of display. If we have ninety-nine cents we can't see our neighbor, socially—who has ninety-eight, and they in turn endeavor to frown down on the family that can lay claim to but ninety-seven cents, and so on down.

That plan of acting will keep any place off the map. Let's start a club house for every man, woman and child of our city and if any resident of our smaller cities or our country want to come in and enlarge the circle, why better yet.
 Now for this to be read by the men readers of this paper it should be printed on the sporting page. However I am leaving it to the women to suggest it to their respective Johns.
 A place to spend a few weeks each year in a wholesome, care-free way, inside one's income would be beneficial in more ways than one. Think this over and decide it shall come to pass. Thinking, please, remember, that Janesville individually cannot accomplish much, but that Janesville collectively can accomplish almost everything.

Baked and Blistered 43,800 Times and Still Lives!
 The average life of a married woman is forty years. In that time she cooks 43,800 different meals. Just think that over. Let it soak in gradually. If your husband doesn't read this advertisement, call his attention to it. Ask him, if he had committed a crime whether he would prefer a 40-year sentence working over a red-hot stove for about five hours a day, or send for the chief executioner and have the job over in a few minutes. Put it up to him and then gently twine your arms about his neck and ask him to buy you a gas range.
 Now the average cost to operate a gas range is 2 a month. The average family is four persons—there are 100 meals to be served in a month—cost 2c a meal for the gas, 40c per person per meal. Talk to him from this economical standpoint. Ask him if he would cut kindling and carry in wood and coal for each meal for 2 cents. If that doesn't letch him, show him how a gas range will save house cleaning, save the walls, reduce fire hazards, and all the sort of argument.
 Then, as a finale, or climax, tell him that for $125 you can buy a gas range with an 18-inch oven, a giant burner, three regular burners and a simmerer. The balance is paid in installments of $1.25 each—won't notice the other payments because they will save enough on fuel bill to pay them. Tell him the connections are made free. Do all this and then call up—we will do the rest.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Things Worth Knowing.
 Salt on the fingers when cleaning fowls, meat or fish will prevent slipping and a little vinegar will prevent odor.
 When eggs are scarce and are needed for puddings, a dessert spoonful of cornstarch will take the place of one egg.
 To keep rugs from rolling up at the corners, sew a heavy iron ring on each corner on the under side. A pinch of soda in the fruit jar after being washed will sweeten it. This is to be put in the jar before being scalded or rinsed out, leaving it sweet and free from odor.

The Table.
 Pineapple Cream and Bananas—Peel bananas and lay them in a shallow baking dish; sprinkle over them one-half cupful of each sugar and water. Bake in a moderate oven until they are a golden brown and a rich banana syrup around them. Remove the fruit to a dish and pour over them a dressing made by mixing one cupful of pineapple juice, one-half cupful of sugar and four tablespoonsful of thick sweet cream.
 Egg Flip—Beat the yolk of one egg and one heaping teaspoonful of sugar in a glass until thick, then stir in one tablespoonful of port wine. Beat the white of the egg to a stiff froth, and fold it in with the egg and wine. Serve at once.
 Loganberry Pudding—Make a custard of one quart of milk, one cupful of sugar and the yolks of four eggs; serve with or without mayonnaise flavor with vanilla. Spread bottom of pudding dish with slices of stale plain cake. Cover with custard, then layer of cake, then custard, then jam, until the dish is full. Cover with meringue made with the whites of two eggs, sweetened, and slightly brown in oven.

Chartreuse of Salmon—Four cupfuls of aspic jelly, one pound of cooked salmon, six hard anchovies, two heaping teaspoonfuls of chutney, half a cupful of cream, yolks of three hard-boiled eggs, half a lemon, half a wineglass of sherry sauce, salt, pepper, paprika, nutmeg, salad and cucumber. Coat a wet plain mold evenly with melted aspic. Decorate prettily with cut cucumber, setting the design with more aspic. Remove the skin and bones from the salmon. Pound it with the yolks of the eggs, anchovies and chutney, then add the sherry wine, lemon juice, strained, and one cupful of liquid aspic. Rub this mixture through a sieve, season it carefully and gradually stir in the cream, lightly beaten. Put a layer in the mold making it half an inch thick, then let it set. Keep the rest of the mixture warm enough to prevent setting, over hot water is the best. When the salmon layer is set, pour in melted aspic jelly to the desired depth and continue these layers of salmon and aspic until the mold is full, setting each layer before another is added. Turn out when set and garnish with cut cucumber or salad and dressing.

QUEEN MARY'S BAN ON DIVORCES MAKES AMERICAN WOMEN SCARCE IN LONDON

Duchess of Marlborough and Queen Mary at top and Princess Patricia at bottom.

Many American women have fled London since the queen made it known so positively that she doesn't care to meet divorced women and is so strict about keeping up the rules of the old order of things. The Duchess of Marlborough is one American divorcee exception who has got on the best of terms with the queen. Princess Patricia, who supported her book on America, at the queen's request, is quite popular, too.

BEATON SAYS MODEL CITY IS POSSIBLE

ARGUES THAT AMERICAN CITIES ARE GREATEST BLUNDER IN PROGRESS OF GOOD GOVERNMENT.

PEOPLE INDIFFERENT

Four Reasons Are Given as to Janesville and Other Cities Becoming Ideal—Taxation a Factor.

"God made man, and man made the city is the idea which many men carry with them, and they stick to it," was the statement made by Dr. Beaton yesterday morning at the Congregational church on his topic of making Janesville a better and cleaner city. "The fact is, that God made the city as much as man did, and perhaps a little more. God made both. Let us turn to the larger cities. Paris stands for France, and Rome stands for Italy. It would take a bold person to come out and say that London did not stand for England. And in this sense of reasoning, lies the fact that the higher life of these cities, was concentrated in them, in a very short period of time. There is no mistake when we say that the cities are and have been the greatest blunder in America. I do not mean to criticize this country in a personal manner, but it is a fact that the United States as a whole are far behind other countries in carrying up the real and concentrated government into our cities. I do not blame the citizens entirely, but it is largely the indifference and disloyalty which prevails among the people as to what it is these two drawbacks, which prevent good citizenship.

For fifty years, Chicago was without regulation concerning the construction of building for private property, and there is no such regulation in that city today.

"Let me cite to you four methods which I believe would make a city prominent in truth and a city standing for justice. The first method is that we should have our city governed by law. Law is the first obedience in fair play within a community. Secondly, not only law, but assurance of justice, equity to every man. Thirdly, conscientiousness of true and abiding loyalty with a common interest. This instrument is what every successful city must contend with, before success is achieved. The last method for good government, is that the community should be bordered with a spiritual grace. By this I mean, not by going to church, not to let religion carry you away, but each citizen must have sense of honor, a sense of integrity and a sense of pride.

Dr. Beaton went on to show two instruments which have been a large factor within Janesville during the past week and a factor which will stand in front of our eyes for some years to come. The first of these instruments is personal character, and the second is private property.

"Personal character," declared Dr. Beaton, "in my meaning is the individual's personal character in relation to the public. It is the loyalty in which a neighbor treats his neighbor. It is the loyalty to private property. Why was it that some persons were mistaken when the ministers of Janesville rose in revolt during the election? Because they had the idea that ministers were moral teachers and were only concerned with morality. That was the huge mistake which they made. We ministers were interested in the personal character of every person in the city and also we were interested in the grounds on which private property is supplied to the citizens of this city. The right or wrong of taxation are just as great as moral qualities of nations. Look at Turkey. What was the matter with her a few years ago, and what is the matter with her today? It is taxation and nothing else. What was the cause of the French revolution? It was taxation.

"What is private character? It is composed of those ethical principles, which, when a man accepts sincerely, makes him a desirable citizen. He is dignified by the entire community as his good citizenship, and not by one single person.

"I was and am still extremely interested in the manner the women of Janesville carried out their plans for civic reform during the past two weeks. This civic club if organized thoroughly in this city, will promote new ideals and customs, and will tend toward cleaning up this city as it has never been before.

"There has been clear evidence in and about this city, on last Tuesday, there were many qualified citizens who failed to cast their ballot. I am sure that in time there will be made that every man must vote or lose his franchise."

BABY CARRIAGES TO RIGHT THE SAME AS AUTOMOBILES

Persons Pushing Perambulators Should Observe Rules of Road and Prevent Confusion.

Baby carriages must be kept to the right on sidewalks just as automobiles and all vehicles that use the street must keep to the right on the roadways. If the baby carriages are pushed along on the wrong side of the walks, the result is confusion, inconvenience and annoyance.

The complaint has been heard from that source that the baby carriages are carelessly handled. One busy man states that no less than twice in one day was he delayed and inconvenienced while going to keep appointments by perambulators which blocked pedestrians.

Some who push baby carriages seem to forget that these small vehicles can cause as much trouble on a sidewalk as larger vehicles on a road. Some women are forever pushing them up and blocking the sidewalk in front of downtown windows. Others will push them through the densest part of a crowd, instead of going around it.

As one of these carriages takes up more space than two persons, and is usually propelled slowly it becomes a nuisance when out of place. People are naturally considerate of mothers and infants, but when the baby carriages get in the way on busy streets at busy hours of the day, it is time for a complaint to be made. At least that is the way many people look at it.

SIDE PLAY.

It was one of those windy days last week that a lady came out of the entrance to the Hayes Block and stopped to open her handbag for a handkerchief when the wind whirled a bank check out from the bag and then the chase was on. The lady was somewhat stout and not intended for such boisterous work as chasing checks and the child who was with her didn't really get into action until the piece of valuable paper was half way across the street, toward the Ziegler Clothing store. The lady and child almost had their hands on it several times and the helpful bystanders made frantic grabs for it, just like you have for a hat, but the

In your hand you hold a five-cent piece.

Right at the grocer's hand is a moisture-proof package of Uneeda Biscuit. He hands you the package—you hand him the coin. A trifling transaction?

No! A remarkable one—for you have spent the smallest sum that will buy a package of good food; and the grocer has sold you the most nutritious food made from flour—as clean and crisp and delicious as it was when it came from the oven.

ONE OF IMPORTANT MUSICAL NUMBERS

Of Janesville Chautauqua Week Will Be the Lyric Glee Club Appearing On Sixth Day.

With a different musical organization for each day of chautauqua week, the Janesville public is promised something exceptionally good in the way of musical entertainment. One of the organizations which is said to be worthy of special mention is the Lyric Glee club which appears on the program of the sixth day.

Eight years of continued success in concert work with a full season booked up to July of this year attest the popularity of this famous male quartet. Only one lyceum quartet in America has a longer record of continuous success.

The management believes this to be the best chautauqua male quartet in the United States. Nearly all the principal lyceum courses in the nation have had the Lyrics. Years of experience both in singing and brass quartet work have enabled them to know what the people want, and their programs are balanced accordingly.

A special feature of their work is presented in readings and impersonations in costume by Mr. Hendy. These are very fine. Their entertainments will be as good as any number presented at your chautauqua in former seasons.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

THOMAS JEFFERSON.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

This is the 87th anniversary of the death of Thomas Jefferson, third president of the United States and composer of the popular hymn tune entitled the Declaration of Independence.

Mr. Jefferson composed this tune at the request of a large number of people who had grown tired of paying taxes without holding any of the offices, and every Fourth of July some of its best words are mispronounced by patriotic freemen.

Mr. Jefferson was born on a small Virginia farm of 1600 acres which grew tobacco and slaves in great abundance. At the age of twenty-four he entered the law and proceeded to fill all of the offices that could be found in Virginia in 1772.

He married a charming young widow who paid taxes on 40,000 acres of land and 135 slaves, thus enabling Mr. Jefferson to devote all his time to composition. One of the best things he composed at this time was the Jeffersonian democracy, which later decomposed, but is now in good health.

He was also the first man to put the classic phrase, "E Pluribus Unum," (which being translated means "One for All and All for One") on the silver dollar.

After serving five years as minister to France, which needed ministers as badly as anybody could, Jefferson was invited into President Washington's cabinet as secretary of state. Jefferson was quite high-spirited in spots and on one occasion he referred to Washington as a boss and standpatter, after which he hurriedly retired from the cabinet.

He then ran for the presidency but lost by a eyelash to John Adams, who was glad to let go at the end of one term. Jefferson was then elected, and rounded out forty-four years of genteel office-holding with two terms in the White House.

Jefferson's greatest act while president was the purchase of about half of the American continent from Spain for $15,000,000. Nobody but Jefferson would have given 15 cents for the Louisiana territory at that time, as it was inhabited mainly by the encephalic chigger and the swamp mosquito, but now Spain would be glad to trade back and throw in her army and navy to boot.

Desecrated Burial Vault.

In a dilapidated old vault in a churchyard in Philadelphia, containing the bones of some colonial man or maiden, a group of roystering men were found the other night, laughing, talking, smoking and shooting "craps." The vault in which they sat was the oldest in Old Trinity and it is falling into decay. For more than a week residents of the neighborhood had heard uncanny sounds emanating from the churchyard after midnight, and the place was believed to be "haunted."

WISCONSIN TOBACCO IN FINE CONDITION

Horticultural Department Expert Reports Encouraging Outlook for Growing Crop.

The tobacco crop in Wisconsin presents an encouraging outlook and the plants show a remarkable growth as a result of the heavy rains and warm weather, according to James Johnson of the Horticultural department of the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin, who has recently made a survey of conditions in all parts of the state.

The northern sections present as favorable indications for a good crop as do the southern sections, and Mr. Johnson believes the present year will be among the best that Wisconsin tobacco growers have experienced for many years.

Some damage to the plants is evident, however, from flooding and hail in certain localities. While cutworms and heat injury have necessitated entire replanting in some cases, the growers in general report little difficulty in getting a good even stand.

THEATRICAL PLANS FOR COMING SEASON

Play in Which the Stars Will Appear According to Statements Given Out by Managers.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

New York, July 28.—Managerial plans for the new season, as announced from the various offices, indicate much general theatrical activity this year. As in other seasons it must be expected that a number of the plays that the managers say they have for production will not be presented this year except in emergencies, such as successive failures of plays upon which the greater hope had been placed.

Charles Frohman's announcements indicate a good "Barrie" season. Maude Adams will devote the season to the J. M. Barrie cycle of comedies. Following "Peter Pan," she will appear in a new Barrie play, "The Legend of Neonora," and later in the season she has another Barrie program, "The Ladies' Shakespeare, Being One Woman's Version of a Notorious Work Edited by J. M. Barrie."

For Blanche Bates Mr. Frohman has prepared a program which will consist of a new Barrie play called "Half Holiday" in conjunction with which Miss Bates will remain in "The Younger Generation."

Mr. Frohman also has two other Barrie plays, which he expects to produce this season, one called "The Will," and the other called "The Little Policeman."

John Drew will be seen in "Much Ado About Nothing." William Gillette will play a season of twenty weeks in repertoire, Billie Burke in a new comedy, "The Land of Promise," by W. Somerset Maugham. John Mason will be seen in "Indian Summer," a new play by Augustus Thomas.

Otis Skinner will remain for the present in "Kismet," and Mrs. Nazimova will continue for some time in "Bella Donna." Ethel Barrymore will be seen early in the season in a play from the novel "Tante."

Among the plays Mr. Frohman has in reserve are "The Mob," by John Galsworthy; Henry V. Edmund's play play by George Barr, a new play by Henry Bernstein, and three comedies by Edward Sheldon, Thompson Buchanan and Stanley Houghton.

The Frohman musical productions will include "The Doll Girl," with Richard Carle and Hattie Williams; "The Marriage Market," with Donald Brian; the Viennese success, "The Little King"; "The Girl on the Film," from the Gaiety Theatre, London, and a new musical review by Gaillet and de Fiers.

Among the Shubert productions will be the new Drury Lane melodrama, "Dreadnaught," another English melodrama entitled "Cheer Boys, Cheer!," "The Surprise of the Year," by C. B. Fernald, and "Simon Street No. 19," by a prominent English author.

The Shuberts will conduct the farewell American tour of Forbes-Robertson and Gertrude Ederly. For the other Shubert stars the definite plans have not been announced.

Cohan and Harris include in their list the productions of "Seven Keys to Baldpate," "Polkas and Permutator," "Newly Married," by Edgar Selwyn, Raymond Hitchcock in a new musical play, "520 Per Cent," Irvin Cobb's comedy, "Home Ties," a woman's suffrage play by George Middleton; Douglas Fairbanks in "Coco" or "Hoyt, Inc.," "The Brain Promoter," by Edward Laska; "The House of Glass," and "Money Mania."

The production planned by John Cort for this year is "The Elder of Youth," a comedy by Zillah Cowling and Jules Simonson; "The Matinee," a comedy by Anne Crawford; a revival of "The Hamlet Tree," with McIntyre and Heath; Mr. Cort will also have two vaudeville companies, in which Lillian Russell, Anna Held, William Farnum and other stars will appear.

The Shuberts have announced only two new ventures for the early part of the season, the American tour of England's most notable light comedian, Cyril Maude, and the production of George Birmingham's Irish farce, "General John Regan."

Winthrop Ames will open his new Gotham Theatre with Arnold Bennett's play of "The Great Adventure." About the same time the Little Theatre will open with "Prunella," by Granville Barker and Laurence Hutton. Mr. Ames also has in preparation "Her Own Money," an American comedy by Mark Swan, and "The Captive," an exciting drama by a new author, Cyril Wentworth Hagg.

The American Play Company will produce a baseball play by Christie Matheson and Rida Johnson, called "Fair Play." Another production of the same firm will be "Under Cover," a drama based upon smuggling operations at the port of New York.

The features of H. H. Frazee's program for the season will be Edward G. Robinson's comedy, "The Silver Wedding," starring Thomas Wise, and "The Conquest," a musical piece by Victor Herbert and Harry B. Smith.

Light Can't Harm Schlitz in Brown Bottles

IMPORTANT

Our reason for using a case with lid is to prevent the sun or light from coming in contact with the beer.

Drinkables should be kept covered and protected at all times. When repacking for fishing, hunting and other outing trips, a cover or paper lid should be placed on the beer bottle holding same, the sun or light affecting the quality.

This case contains cards with this notice. Please hand them to your friends, and caution your people accordingly, thereby greatly obliging

Anheuser-Busch, St. Louis.

Read that "Budweiser" card again

It concedes our claims—light bottles do not protect the beer from the damaging effects of sun or light.

Light starts decay even in pure beer.

Schlitz in Brown Bottles is made pure and then kept pure from the brewery to your glass.

THUNDER STORMS DUE IN THE LAKE REGION

Showers to be Followed, Says Forecast, by Fair Weather and Rising Pressure.

Following is the weekly forecast for the coming week:

A moderate depression today extending from the lower Missouri valley northeastward to Lake Superior, will move eastward and be followed by thunder storms during the early part of the week, from the Ohio valley and lower lake region eastward. The showers will be followed by rising pressure with fair weather that will probably continue during the remainder of the week. In the south local thunder storms will continue, but probably will not so great frequency as during the week just ended. Over the central and western portions of the country generally fair weather will prevail, although local thunder storms are probable early in the week, over both slopes of the central and southern Rocky mountains.

A cool wave that may cover the west will spread eastward and southward in modified form, reaching the great central valleys and the lake region Monday night, and the central and western states and New England about twenty-four hours later. Temperatures will rise somewhat by Tuesday, west of the Mississippi river, and the rise will reach the Atlantic coast about Thursday or Friday, by which time another fall will probably set in, over the northwest. No unusually high temperatures are at present indicated, nor are there any evidences of a West Indian storm.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Persons Answering Fraudulent Advertisements Asked to Notify Gazette.
The Gazette is desirous of keeping out of its columns fraudulent advertising and asks the assistance of its patrons to that end.
There are any number of concerns in the country who make a living through a nicely worded advertisement, offering golden opportunities, and these unscrupulous people find fertile ground for work among the masses.
Many orders are received in the Gazette mail for advertising which are returned as objectionable and where there is a question as to the qualifications the advertisement is omitted. All newspapers have this experience.
But even with the utmost care there will be an occasional advertisement which will pass the scrutiny of the business department of the paper, and find its way into the columns.
The Gazette will deem it a favor if you will report to the office any trouble which may have been experienced through the answering of such an advertisement.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, July 28, 1873.—As we expected, the arrival of Lena's circus brought to this city a lot of lawless hangers-on who have been committing great depredations with good success. In the various Wisconsin cities where this traveling exhibition has pitched its tent. We do not wish to be understood that these men are connected with the circus employees in anyway, or that the owners are responsible for their presence. They must endure what they cannot shake off. They were the first upon the grounds at night and started into doing their pilfering among the afternoon and night crowds assembled to attend the entertainment. Educated to unlawful avocation in the large cities where the utmost precautions are ever taken to guard against the operations of thieves of their skill and trade experience and daring, gained in difficult and dangerous fields of labor, rendered them extremely successful in a town of this size. This trip to the country towns has resulted in their combining pleasure and profit.
Our officers were apprised of the presence of the advance guards of the gang of operators on the night before the circus. Various bold and successful robberies were committed in Racine and Monroe and the local police thought that these men would be more safe behind the bars. So the police of Janesville were forewarned and forearmed.
The officers were stationed at various parts of the town and the arrests were made, their being several from Racine and Monroe where these men had committed robberies. Six men were lodged in jail and the business men of Janesville suffered as such losses as did the citizens of other cities.
William Eddy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Eddy, residing in the first ward, has been missing since Thursday of this week. He became deranged as a result of a blow on the head and it is supposed that he wandered off while in that condition.
